Our clients have been leading national and global businesses in the energy, oil and gas, chemical, pharmaceutical, environmental, transportation, financial services, technology, healthcare, real estate, telecommunications, manufacturing, and media industries. We have represented major multinational companies in multijurisdictional matters involving every U.S. state and territory.

Global Businesses

Our clients have business operations throughout the world. They include Fortune 100 companies and multinational businesses facing challenges from federal, state, and local governments.

Among the many actions we have taken for our clients:

- Overcame state, local, and international bureaucratic obstacles for expedited transportation and shipping of a chemical reactor to China on an urgent basis.
- Crafted successful communications, political, and policy strategy and managed local and state and federal investigations for a major oil and gas company in crisis following a refinery incident.
- Facilitated consideration and adoption by a state environmental agency of favorable climate change regulations for the state's largest energy company.
- Helped an international company address issues involving sensitive national/homeland security concerns.
- Worked with multiple major pharmaceutical companies on crisis management, targeted regulatory enforcement and multi-state and multi-county litigation.
- Advised and negotiated a significant agreement on new power generation facilities with international and domestic companies.
- Developed and implemented strategy for a major international pharmaceutical company in a multistate investigation and negotiated a settlement on highly favorable terms.
- Implemented coordinated strategies for insurance companies to proactively engage insurance regulators and specific government offices.
- Advised a major international manufacturer throughout negotiations in a complex state and local government investigation and legal action for negligent product liability alleged to have caused death and serious injury in multiple instances.
- Worked closely with outside counsel of a major international chemical maker to achieve an appellate court victory avoiding a seriously damaging listing demanded by an intransigent state environmental agency.
